

Dear Rescue Organization,

Hi. I've heard such good things about you and I know that I can trust you to care for my dogs. I just have to get rid of them. I love them so much. They are my children, but I can no longer keep them.

They always need to be fed and let out to pee. It takes up so much of my valuable time.

And have you looked at the price of Ol'Roy dog food these days? It's scandalous. How's a person supposed to feed their dogs with prices like that!

You'll love my dogs. I have a pure bred multi-shitty-poo-pug. Got him from a show breeder and he cost me $1,000. He's real quality and I kept him intact so I could breed him and start my own breed. Sadly, it just hasn't worked out. I bred my multi-shitty-poo-pug to a rottie-ridge-malinois. And all the puppies died. The owner of the rottie-ridge-malinois said that the mom laboured and laboured for three or four days and then she died. What a loser dog. So there went my dream of being famous and making a fortune.

My other dog is a pittie-pom-wolf. She's a delight. She bites a bit and won't let you sit on the sofa, but it's so funny. Don't you find that funny? I laugh and laugh. But she bit my husband and now he says she has to go. She's getting old and starting to cost me some money so it's time to give her to someone else. She probably needs her teeth done and I'm not footing the bill for that!

Finally, I have my Boston Terrier, Jeffrey Dahmer. You'll love him. He barks and barks and spins. He's ruined my floors and carpets. And honestly, I take him out once a week for a 15 minute walk and he's still not happy. Selfish little brute. So he needs a new home, too.

I would like you to pick them up in an hour as I have a hair appointment to get my roots done. And then I'm having dinner and seeing a show and I will just be upset if they aren't gone before I leave. I'll have to have the Bentley detailed as it is because of their damn hair.

Thanks,
Mandy Moronowner
